The cases which came before Justice

The cases which came before Justice Cullen this morning were those of Stillman F. Kneeland against William Hughes, in the Seventh Assembly District of Kings; Henry Wolfert against John McCarty, in the Sixth Senatorial District, and Michael Conklin against Michael McGuire, in the Assembly District of Richmond.

Kneeland was represented by George F. Elliott, Hughes by Congressman Magner, his law partner; Wolfert by T. E. Klendi, McCarthy by Senator P. H. McCarren, McGuire by Gen. George W. Wingate and Conklin by L. S. Phillips.

At the opening of the proceedings Mr. Elliott aid he had agreed with his opponent, Mr. Wagner, to take the evidence in the case of Kneeland against Hughes before a stenographer and have it certified before Justice Cullen later. Until this is decided there will be nothing done about the rate of taxation, although it is proposed by the McMillan-Bryan plan to make it 2 per cent, and upon incomes of $4,000 a year and upward, yielding an estimated revenue of $30,000.000 blowing at the time, and she enough to look out for herself. Dec. 10, the Lancastrian Prince spoke the disabled oil steamer and was compelled to refuse her aid on account of the $30,000,000.

The inheritance tax will be extended only to personal property, as it has been found impracticable to have real estate included. A revenue of $10,000,000, it is estimated, will be derived from this rough weather.

The third and last time that any new of her has been reported was when the that she wished to be taken in tow. The same rough weather prevented him from giving a line to the tank vessel, which was then approaching Halifax, having rigged a jury rudder.

At the office of Gustave Heye, of the Standard Oil Combany, to whom she is consigned, it was stated this morning that no fears were entertained for her safety. Capt. Burger, who commands her, it was said, is one of the pluckiest captains who sails the Atlantic, and the consignee is confident that he will bring the ship into port.
